

A new journey has begun

Walk with us and keep us on our way.

Now on that same day two of them were going to a village called Emmaus, about seven miles from Jerusalem and talking with each other about all these things which had happened. While they were talking and discussing, Jesus himself came near them and went with them, but their eyes were kept from recognising him.

As they came near the village to which they were going, he walked ahead as if he were going on. But they urged him strongly, saying, 'Stay with us, because it is almost evening and the day is now nearly over.' So he went in to stay with them.

When he was at the table with them, he took bread, blessed and broke it, and gave it to them. Then their eyes were opened, and they recognised him; and he vanished from their sight.

Risen Lord Jesus Christ,
when we walk, you walk with us.
When we break bread help us to remember we are invited to share it
with you,
so that we may share your love in our world.

Amen

Thinkabouts:

What were the two disciples
talking about as they walked?

What or who stopped them from knowing it was Jesus?

Why do they recognise him when he breaks the bread?

Let's wonder:

Do you think that Jesus
did not want the disciples to recognise
him on the walk?

A new journey has begun

Walk with us and keep us on our way.
